Are you Ready for a Cooler Tooler?

Brooklyn, New York [July 15, 2007] - Ellen Levinas, owner of www.howtoguide.us and an avid Internet Marketer and Networker is thrilled to find her cooler tooler! What are we talking about here you may be wondering? A toolbar of course, that now belongs to her own website!

"Just when I thought that I've seen just about everything there is to see regarding free traffic, advertising and all of these methods that are available to everyone online, along comes this fabulous toolbar that is really the most awesome advertising tool that I've ever stumbled across!"

How to Guide's mission is to help people make more sales, by offering how-to guides, products and affordable business services, but with this new toolbar, everyone is able to enjoy so much more that How to Guide has to offer by installing a toolbar that takes only a minute to download and is 100% secure and private. The toolbar has everything on it that any person should and would need, including links, weather, search, Webmaster site tools, spell check, dictionary, forums and message boards, and so much more, with more yet to come, all at anyone's fingertips! Furthermore, people stay connected, thus you have a community toolbar for everyone to enjoy!

It is Ellen's hope and wish that people would download How to Guide's new toolbar to connect with each other, and use the free tools and resources that is on this new "Cooler Tooler," as Ellen calls it. It has never been so easy to find everything that one needs when working online, which is so easily accessible in one little toolbar.
